Britannia Mine tour

During our afternoon tour, participants will be visiting the Water Treatment Plant and the Mine Museum. The cost for the tour is $50 per person (plus HST) and includes transportation and admission fees. Below you will find some information about both sites:

The Britannia Mine Museum

The Britannia Mine Museum is a newly transformed, historical destination on Britannia Beach located 10 minutes south of Squamish. Revitalized in 2010 with a major $14.7-million three-phase redevelopment project, in 2011 the Mine Museum won “Best in Facility Development & Design” at the Canadian Museum Association Awards for Outstanding Achievement. On the guided tour, go on the train into the Mine Tunnel where the interpreter conveys the reality of working conditions in the tunnels and demonstrates the decades-old drilling equipment. The tour continues into huge Mill 3, a designated National Historic site, one of the last remaining gravity-fed concentrator mills in North America, where the interpreter explains how the ore gets crushed and minerals extracted. The Britannia Mine Museum also features many buildings to explore by self-guiding, including the Visitor Centre with interactive screens and theatre featuring a 15 minute documentary, and the Exhibit Hall containing artifacts and old film footage about both mining and the social history of Britannia Beach.

Britannia Mine Water Treatment Plant

Committed to environmental stewardship, the Britannia Mine Museum also provides group visits with educational tours of the EPCOR Water Treatment Plant, to learn more about environmental issues. Britannia Mines had an environmental impact on Howe Sound, due to acid rock drainage, which occurs naturally when rainwater reacts with oxygen and exposed mineral. The Water Treatment Plant tour shows and explains how acid rock drainage is resolved, with the heavy metal contaminants captured and removed to neutralize the acidic mine water before discharging clean water into Howe Sound. Since the remediation campaign has been taking place, the shoreline at Britannia has been monitored for dissolved metal levels and for its ecology and many varieties of marine life have returned including whales.

Golf

Due to the unpredictable weather in April, we will not be organizing a golf tournament. However, for those wishing to golf, here are two courses that are in close proximity to the hotel:

University Golf Club

Having been around since 1929, University Golf Club is a traditional course with long, narrow fairways and towering old growth trees. It is only minutes away from the city but it feels like you're in the country and away from it all. The golf course is accessible to all levels of players and can be walked or driven at your leisure. With 10 minute tee time intervals, there is no rush for you to enjoy this scenic course.

Northlands Golf Club

Discover one of western Canada's most incredible golf experiences! Northlands presents a well formulated mix of challenging holes, friendly scenic downhill vistas and strategically located natural hazards. Throughout the design and construction process, there was emphasis on retaining the naturalness of this forested mountainside site.
