

Jefo

Des additifs pour chaque espèce
Species-specific additives

Jefo Nutrition is a world leader in performance feed additives. Species-specific by design, Jefo performance additives are respectful of the environment and increase livestock production economic performance.

Since the company was founded, our focus has been to understand and contribute to improving the science, economics and techniques of agriculture, with the greatest respect for the environment and sustainable development. Backed by proven research, Jefo products will improve livestock production strategies and increase animal performance.

Currently we are seeking an individual for the position of,

Territory Manager
Western Canada

You are interested to be part of dynamic group and working for a growing company.

As a Technical Sales Representative/Territory Manager you will be responsible for the sales growth of Jefo products in Western Canada. This growth will be achieved by following both company and personal strategic plans. Focus will be on supporting and helping our valued customers reach their business goals in this competitive marketplace.

You are confident in your professional and personal skills to seek exciting and new challenges.

Your education consists of a Degree or Diploma in Animal Science or Animal Nutrition with Business experience. You can work independently but feel equally at ease in a group environment and above all are team player. Our customers look to you first to find solutions to their challenges. You are able to give dynamic presentations and have the ability to convey and explain technical concepts as they relate to our products. You build and solidify relationships. You truly enjoy working in this industry and consider yourself a Sales Professional.

Offer – To the right individual we offer the opportunity to work with a fast growing company that encourages it's people to display their many talents that results in personal and team success.

If interested please forward you resume to;

Steve White
Sales Director - Canada
Jefo
swhite@jefo.ca