

Animal Nutrition Association of Canada Graduate Scholarship (Established 2004)

The Animal Nutrition Association of Canada (ANAC) is pleased to offer the ANAC Graduate Scholarship to Canadian university graduate students (including landed immigrants) enrolled in Animal Science or a related field of study, with a specific interest (research project/course selection) in animal nutrition.

Value: $2,000

Number Awarded: 2

Deadline: Eastern competition – March 24, 2016 for applicants from universities East of the Ontario/Manitoba border.

Western competition – June 24, 2016 for applicants from universities West of the Ontario/Manitoba border.

Background: ANAC is a national trade association representing livestock and poultry feed manufacturing firms, micro ingredient suppliers, grain and oilseed suppliers and other related commodity suppliers to the industry. ANAC membership represents approximately 90% of animal feed products commercially manufactured in Canada. The ANAC Graduate Scholarship is made possible through funding by ANAC member companies. The intent of this scholarship is to encourage students to consider pursuing a career in the feed industry as Animal Nutritionists, and to demonstrate ANAC's appreciation for the science of animal nutrition.

Application: Applications must be submitted in writing before the deadline stated above. The following information is required:

- completed ANAC Scholarship Application Form (available upon request)
- resume
- reference from the applicant's University Department advisor and/or Department Head
- one page report detailing what role the applicant sees for them self in the Canadian animal nutrition field in the future
- list of nutrition-related courses completed (with final grade) and currently enrolled in (This can be in the form of an official transcript, or a list signed by the applicant's academic advisor.)
